

Moral Resilience for Nurses During COVID-19

Early infection and death rates from COVID-19 failed to include senior care and nursing centers, even as nurses worked on the front lines to save those under their care. A New York Times tally on April 17 estimated that 20% of fatalities occurred in nursing homes, assisted-living facilities, memory care facilities, retirement and senior communities and long-term rehabilitation facilities. Unlike hospitals, these systems were unequipped and not designed to handle the onslaught, and nurses and nursing assistants have been the primary medical staff working in these facilities, often without adequate protection. And even most hospitals were swamped by the pandemic. This will be a Zoom call, space is limited.

Friday, May 8, 2020
11:30 am - 1:30 pm EDT

Register at https://voa.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_N8eiiS-1RHG4I5qm_2RGdA

For questions, email Sam at smcallister@voa.org

Presented by

Dr. Rita Brock,
Senior VP & Director
Shay Moral Injury Center
at Volunteers of America

Dr. Cynda Hylton Rushton,
Anne and George L. Bunting
Professor of Clinical Ethics
Johns Hopkins Berman
Institute of Bioethics and the School of Nursing

Virginia Scott,
Director of Nursing
City of Cincinnati
Department of Health

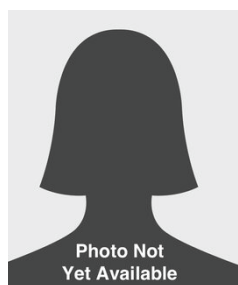

Ronda Jones,
Director of Nursing
Laurel Manor Care
Center of Volunteers
of America

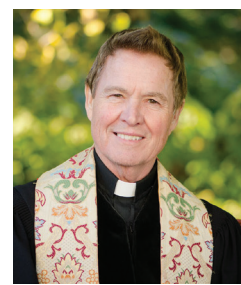

Tonya Jackson,
Vice President of Housing and Health Initiatives for Volunteers of America
National Services

Donna Webb,
COO of Pathway
Health Services

Rose DeRosa,
RN Supervisor, Lower
Eastside Service Center
Manhattan, NYC

Rev. Dr. Al Boyce,
Moderator
Chaplain, Volunteers of America Northern New England