

Amidst long hours of wondering
How your loved one is
And wishing you could hold a hand,
Dry a tear

May love stretch across walls
Find your loved one in their inner sanctuary
Of the hospital, reminding them
That love holds no boundaries,
That life still has its preciousness,
Its permeability. Its infinitude.
Its expansiveness.

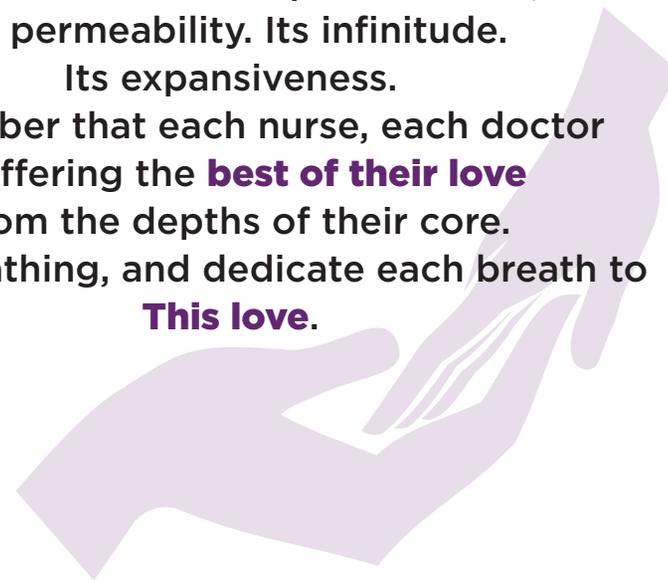

Remember that each nurse, each doctor
Is offering the best of their love
From the depths of their core.
Keep breathing, and dedicate each breath to
This love.
